CAUTION NOTICE

MIT World Peace University (MIT-WPU) is a private university established under Dr. Vishwanath Karad MIT World Peace University Act, 2016 (Mah. Act no xxxv of 2017) and approved by University Grant Commission (UGC), the apex regulatory body for higher education in India. MIT World Peace University was formerly known as the Maharashtra Institute of Technology, which was established in 1983 and was one of the first private engineering colleges in Pune, Maharashtra. Today, MIT World Peace University is one of the top reputed universities of India renowned for its academic excellence.

PLEASE BE AWARE

Merit-Based Selections:

Admissions to all programmes at MIT-WPU are through a comprehensive process and are strictly merit-based. MIT-WPU conducts its own Common Entrance Test, alongside accepting JEE, MHT-CET, NEET, GATE, GMAT, CAT, and other national entrance exam scores. Eligibility criteria are fixed and non-negotiable; only applicants who meet these criteria are considered.

No Agents Involved:

MIT-WPU's admissions are conducted directly by the university's admissions department. We do not engage with agents. Do not get influenced by individuals promising admission through unofficial means.

Merit and Need-based Scholarships:

MIT-WPU annually awards scholarships to 2,000+ students, supporting them across diverse programmes. Merit-based and need-based scholarships aim to make quality education accessible, fostering academic excellence and inclusivity.

Promotes Holistic Education:

MIT-WPU's holistic education blends academics with experiential learning, rural, national, and international immersion programmes, life transformation, and co-creation. It fosters values through daily prayers and celebrates national unity on August 15th and January 26th, shaping well-rounded individuals.

No Donations and Capitations Demanded or Accepted:

MIT-WPU does not demand or accept donations in any form for admissions. The university does not consider recommendations as part of the admissions process.

Minimum 80% Attendance:

A minimum of eighty percent attendance is compulsory for all students. This policy is in place to maximise learning outcomes and ensure students benefit fully from the comprehensive educational experience offered.

Zero Tolerance Policy:

MIT-WPU maintains a strict zero-tolerance policy regarding possession, consumption, and distribution of drugs, alcohol, and tobacco. Also, any involvement in ragging activity results in immediate disciplinary action, including suspension or expulsion.

MIT-WPU is committed toward offering equal opportunities to all, irrespective of caste, religion, or gender. We request all aspirants and their families to carefully consider these points while applying at MIT-WPU. You can also visit our University website for other details or contact our admissions department for further information.
